20

(2) The registered ART provider must ask the Secretary to the Department responsible for providing child protection services to prepare a statement that includes—

25

(a) details of whether a child protection order has been made removing a child from the person's custody or guardianship; and 15 abuse or neglect.

(2) After considering an application for review made under this section, the Patient Review Panel may decide that there is no barrier to the person undergoing treatment procedures generally or a
20 treatment procedure of a specified kind.

(3) In deciding the application for review, the Patient Review Panel must have regard to—

(b) at the applicant's option, the County Court.

The presumptions of law that arise under Part II, III or V of this Act—

- (a) apply in respect of a child that is born as a result of a surrogacy arrangement; but

Division 2—Substitute parentage orders

Subdivision 1—Making substitute parentage orders

5

22 Court may make substitute parentage order

(1) The court may make a substitute parentage order in favour of the commissioning parents if it is satisfied—

10

(a) that making the order is in the best interests of the child; and

30

(2) In deciding whether to make a substitute parentage order, the court may take into account any other considerations it thinks relevant.

- 10 (2) Despite section 22(3), the court may dispense with consent of the surrogate mother's partner if satisfied—
- (a) that the commissioning parents cannot, after reasonable inquiries, find the surrogate mother's partner; or
- (b) that the surrogate mother's partner is deceased; or
- 15 (c) on evidence given in accordance with subsection (4), that the surrogate mother's partner is, and is likely to continue to be, in such a physical or mental condition as to be incapable of properly considering whether to give consent.
- 20 (3) For the purposes of subsections (1)(a) and (2)(a), the commissioning parents have made reasonable inquiries if they have—

- 10
- 15
- (c) searched the roll of electors under the Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918 and confirmed that the address of the person could not be found; and
 - (d) made enquiries of such persons, bodies, agencies and government departments as might reasonably be expected to have known where the person may be found; and
 - (e) made any other enquiries the court determines.
- (4) For the purposes of subsections (1)(c) and (2)(c), the evidence required is a certificate signed by at least two medical practitioners registered under the Health Professions Registration Act 2005 certifying as to the matters referred to in that paragraph.

25 Ancillary orders

20 On making a substitute parentage order, the court may make any consequential or ancillary order it thinks fit—

- 25
- (a) in the interests of justice; or
 - (b) for the welfare and in the best interests of the child in respect of whom the order is made.

26 Effect of substitute parentage order

- 30
- (1) If the court makes a substitute parentage order in respect of a child, the provisions of the Adoption Act 1984 set out in subsection (2) (the applied provisions) apply in relation to the substitute parentage order as if that order were an adoption order made under that Act and as if the child were an adopted child.

(2) The applied provisions are sections 53 to 58 of the Adoption Act 1984, except sections 53(1)(d) and (e).

(3) An applied provision applies to a substitute parentage order as if—

(a) a reference to an adopted child were a reference to a child who is the subject of a substitute parentage order; and

(b) a reference to an adoptive parent were a reference to the commissioning parents in whose favour the substitute parentage order was made; and

(c) a reference to the commencement of the Adoption of Children Act 1964 were a reference to the commencement of the Assisted Reproductive Treatment Act 2008; and

(d) a reference to an adoption order were a reference to a substitute parentage order made under this Act; and

(e) any other necessary changes have been made to the applied provision.

Note

The applied provisions clarify the effect of a substitute parentage order by reference to the Adoption Act 1984 rather than inserting new provisions in this Act. However, a substitute parentage order is not an adoption order and a child who is the subject of a substitute parentage order is not an adopted child.

The applied provisions provide for the following—

- the general effect of a substitute parentage order, including that the child is to be treated in law as a child of the commissioning parents as if the child had been born to the commissioning parents (section 53);
- the disposition of property, whether by will or otherwise, in circumstances in which a substitute parentage order has been made (section 54);

- bequests by will to an unascertained person who is the subject of a substitute parentage order (section 55);
- the names of a child who is the subject of a substitute parentage order (section 56);
- the domicile of a child who is the subject of a substitute parentage order (section 57);
- that a substitute parentage order does not affect the distribution of property by trustees or personal representatives except in certain circumstances (section 58).

Subdivision 2—Discharge of substitute parentage orders

27 Who may apply for discharge of substitute parentage order

 - (c) a child whose parentage was transferred by the substitute parentage order and who has reached the age of 18 years.
- (2) Any person may apply for leave to intervene in an application under subsection (1) and the court may make an order entitling the person to intervene in the application.
- (3) A person who is permitted under subsection (2) to intervene in an application under subsection (1) is to be treated as a party to the application with all the rights, duties and liabilities of a party, unless the court orders otherwise.

28 Court may order discharge of substitute parentage order

- 5 (1) On an application under section 27, the court may make an order discharging a substitute parentage order if it is satisfied that—
- 10 (a) the substitute parentage order was obtained by fraud, duress or other improper means; or

- 15 (c) there is an exceptional reason the substitute parentage order should be discharged.
- (2) The court must not make an order under subsection (1) discharging a substitute parentage order unless—
- 20 (a) the order is in the best interests of the child whose parentage would be affected; and
- (b) the court is satisfied that reasonable efforts have been made to give notice of the application to—
- 25 (i) the surrogate mother of the child whose parentage would be affected; and
- 30 (ii) if the surrogate mother had a partner who was also a party to the surrogacy arrangement, that partner; and
- (iii) each of the commissioning parents; and

- (iv) if the court considers it appropriate having regard to the child's age, the child whose parentage would be affected.
- 5 (3) If the court makes an order discharging the substitute parentage order, the court must declare the name by which the child is to be known, having regard to the principle that a child's first name should not be changed
- 10 except in special circumstances.
- (4) A declaration under subsection (3) does not prevent a subsequent change of name under a law of the State.
- 15 (5) On making an order discharging a substitute parentage order, the court may make any consequential or ancillary order it thinks fit in the interests of justice or in the best interests of the child whose parentage is affected, including any order relating to—
- 20 (a) the ownership or possession of property; or
- (b) any matter affecting the child in relation to the duties, powers, responsibilities and authority which, by
- 25 law, parents have in relation to children; or
- (c) the domicile of the child.
- 30 (6) For the purposes of subsection (1), material inducement does not include the reimbursement of costs as permitted by section 44 of the Assisted Reproductive Treatment Act 2008.

29 Effect of discharge of a substitute parentage order

- 5 (1) On the discharge of a substitute parentage order, the rights, duties, liabilities and relationships of persons are as if the substitute parentage order had not been made.
- 10 (2) Subsection (1)—
- (a) does not apply to the extent that its application would be inconsistent with any order made under section 28; and
- (b) does not affect—
- 15 (i) anything lawfully done while the substitute parentage order was in force; or
